

International Legal Framework Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) – Article 3

1 Evaluating Death Penalty in the Context of Bangladesh: A Legal Analysis of Its Compatibility with the Right to Life.

Compatibility with the Right to Life: Try techniques

The death penalty raises significant concerns regarding fairness, proportionality, and irreversible harm, conflicting with international human rights standards.

2 Judicial Safeguards and Concerns

Inadequate legal representation.
o Potential for wrongful convictions due to procedural flaws.
o Bias and political motivations affecting the fairness of trials.

5 Arguments Against:

Violation of the right to life.
o Risk of irreparable harm in cases of wrongful convictions.
o The death penalty doesn't serve as an effective deterrent

3 Human Rights Perspectives

Amnesty International and Human Rights Watch highlight concerns over the fairness of trials, political use of the death penalty, and the effectiveness of deterrence.

6 Concerns:

● Inadequate legal representation.
● o Potential for wrongful convictions due to procedural flaws.
● o Bias and political motivations affecting the fairness of trials.